

The JW Marriott Starr Pass rests within a breathtaking area known as Tucson Mountain Park. The park was established on April 11, 1928 and contains approximately 20,000 acres and 62 miles of non-motorized trails. The Tucson Mountains are full of towering saguaros. This desert icon can live as long as 200 years, growing over fifty feet tall and weighing more than ten tons. The saguaro has a distinctive tall trunk and numerous curved arms that branch upward. This landscape allows guests to view a variety of wildlife including quail, roadrunners, woodpeckers, flickers, wrens, owls, hawks, desert tortoise, gila monsters, javelinas, kangaroo rats, coyotes, foxes, and jackrabbits. We invite you to experience the uniqueness of Starr Pass and the magic of the Sonoran Desert inside the Park.

Hiking

The Southwest region awaiting you offers much more than what many imagine deserts to be. The diversity of flora and fauna found in this area affirms the harmony found in nature. Explore the variety of trails that begin right on property on your own, or choose a guided hike.

Mountain Biking

Your adventure starts here with an escorted or solo mountain bike ride among majestic, saguaro filled hills. The diverse basin and range topography of the southwest region offers a wide variety of terrain options featuring fun, rocky, hilly, double track and single track biking; rides with searing climbs and perilous descents or rides through gently rolling grasslands on dirt roads. Within minutes you'll feel transported back to a time when men and women lived off the land and relied on the desert habitat for survival. Whether it's your first time cycling, or you're looking to work a few miles into your fitness plan, we can provide a ride to suit your needs. See the reception and concierge for more information on guided hikes and bike rides.

Nightly Tequila Toast

The legend of Arriba, Abajo goes back to a traditional Mexican custom where a prospective groom asks permission for his beloved's hand in marriage from her father. Enjoy the retelling of the legend of Pancho Villa who wanted to marry his dearest Juanita. Join us every night at 5:30 pm on the Salud Terrace for our own tradition – a tequila toast. Salud offers over 110 different Tequilas, and specialty margaritas and cocktails. Resident guitarist, Gabriel Romo Francisco, a local favorite, can be heard on the patio five nights a week.

STARR PASS GOLF

Whether driving from elevated tees on the side of rugged mountains or carrying shots across natural desert washes, golfing at Starr Pass is enhanced by the abundance of Sonoran Desert wildlife and vegetation. You may find yourself waiting for a pack of coyotes to stop howling or a family of deer to cross the fairway. Or perhaps a roadrunner or javelina will make an appearance during your round. You'll have to tear your eyes away from the amazing surroundings to concentrate on your game at hand.

The five sets of tee boxes on the Starr Pass courses provide a fair test for golfers of all abilities. Some prefer the longer more challenging Rattler Course, others find themselves tested by the dramatic elevations of Roadrunner, and some are most happy to play to gentler, more forgiving Coyote Course. The best Starr Pass experience of all, of course, is to play all 27 holes to fully enjoy the amazing Arnold Palmer Signature design and native desert landscape.

Audubon Sanctuary

Starr Pass Golf Course has been a certified Audubon Cooperative Sanctuary member since 2008.

What is the Audubon? The Audubon Cooperative Sanctuary Program for Golf Courses helps golf courses to enhance wildlife habitats and protect natural resources for the benefit of people, wildlife, and the game of golf. The program is designed to give golf course managers the information and guidance they need to implement stewardship projects and receive recognition for their efforts.

The Golf Program is part of the Audubon Cooperative Sanctuary System, a nationwide network of conservation partnerships that includes backyards, schools, corporate and business properties, and golf courses. It is administered by Audubon International, a non-profit environmental organization that spearheads education and conservation assistance programs that promote environmental stewardship and sustainability.

In the Primo garden

Fresh, quality ingredients are the foundation of the award-winning cuisine of Primo. Our Chef de Cuisine, Christie Tenaud, partners with local growers, co-ops and farmers to search out unique, fresh and organic produce and meats. In that spirit, and with Spring upon us, the Primo Garden is being readied for a rich harvest of herbs and vegetables to be used in our kitchen.

The Primo garden has been designed in traditional Italian style along the hillside, terraced to capture sunlight and moisture, and is host to edible flowers, herbs, and additional varieties of vegetables and fruits. These beds are designed to be as functional as they are beautiful - a place where the Primo cooks can slip out of the kitchen to cut the herbs or garnish that they need.

This year we expect to plant a variety of greens, herbs, artichokes, chiles, tomatoes, peppers, eggplant, melons and beans.

On your next visit to Primo, stop by the garden or enjoy your meal on our intimate patio atop the garden with breathtaking views of the Tucson Mountain Park.

At Primo, fresh is the vital relationship between the kitchen and the gardens that surround it. It is the morning communication that occurs between the chef and the head grower, coordinating the perfect harvest to fit that night's menu, and the perfect menu to fit that day's harvest. We support open-water, line-caught fish. We fly our fish in from all over the world, wasting as little time as possible from catch to restaurant. We buy certified Organic fair-trade coffee.

HASHANI SPA

At Hashani Spa, one is not only healed by the treatment they are receiving, but also by the sensory bliss of the magical Sonoran Desert. See it in the cacti surrounding you while enjoying a hypnotic massage. Hear it while splashing in your Egyptian lotus milk bath. Feel it while snugly wrapped in spirulina harvested from a pure salt desert lake. Taste it in a fruit smoothie sipped outside by the swimming pool. Hashani celebrates the desert's indigenous culture by embracing ancient techniques and transforming them into modern rituals.

Whether you're ensconced in one of the treatment rooms, gaining strength through a Pilates class, or finding solace through yoga or meditation, Hashani encourages greater mental awareness and the powerful connection between body, mind, spirit and, of course, the environment surrounding you.
