Marriott Hotels Give Tucson a Helping Hand

Marriott hotels help serve the Tucson community

Tucson, AZ (6/4/09) – Marriott hotels have established a tradition of excellence in giving back to the communities they serve. Marriott hotels in Tucson, Arizona are no exception. Since the start of 2009, JW Marriott Starr Pass Resort & Spa has collected needed funds and donated much time to the organizations in need in Tucson.

This May, volunteers from a number of Tucson Marriott hotels banded together to help the Tucson Community Food Bank. Their efforts were part of Marriott's company-wide Spirit to Serve Our Communities Day.

The Tucson Marriott team was able to sort through 32 pallets of recent food donations to help with the future foods needs of Tucson's hungry.

In addition, the Marriott team bagged over 960 care packages of food (8 pallets worth), which were sent to needy and deserving recipients throughout all of Southern Arizona.

Marriott's tradition of giving never ends. Earlier this year, JW Marriott Starr Pass Resort & Spa held a Candy-Gram Fundraiser, where Starr Pass associates sent lollipops and notes to each other for Valentine's Day. This effort raised $1,000, which was presented to the Community Food Bank in

The JW Marriott Starr Pass team presents the check to Pauline Hechler, Vice President of Development, the Tucson Community Food Bank. Big Red, Jerheme Urban and Jason Banks from the Arizona Cardinals were all on hand.

May. This $1,000 will allow the Community Food Bank to make $9,000 worth of food purchases.

The JW Marriott Starr Pass Resort & Spa, along with other Tucson Marriott hotels, are truly making an impact on hunger and malnutrition in the Tucson community.
